

CSCE 190

Assignment Name: Teammate Finder

Group Name: CSCE 190 Group #1

Team Members who contributed:

First Name	Last Name	Email
Preston	Sands	psands@email.uscb.edu
Joseph	Telaak	jtelaak@email.sc.edu
Joseph	Aziz	shahraiz@email.sc.edu

Joseph Telaak

Bandrew Bate is enjoying himself on his massive multi-million dollar yacht. Soon he has an appointment to appear on a podcast

After his podcast is over and he has gained sufficient enough attention, mostly negative, he rides to the airport in his very expensive and rare cars. On the way, he decides he will check out this new app and surround himself with gamers to learn more about them so he has new material for his public appearances

As andrew tate is a social media influencer, he appears on many podcasts and other media. He gains lots of attention for his controversial views.

After boarding his private plane, he sits down and the plane takes off. He finds himself to be quite bored. He downloads the app. He sets up the profile to blend in.

In this podcast he speaks about money, cars, and a variety of other topics. In this segment, he starts talking about gamers. Bandrew Bate dislikes gamers and anyone who doesn't fit his idea of masculinity. He talks about this new app that helps you find other gamers to play with.

Now that he has immersed himself among the gamers. He begins go troll them. The app's algorithm is so good at detecting and banning bots and trolls, he has to make several false accounts after he quickly gets banned. Eventually he decides he secretly likes games and has a hidden account he uses for real.

Bandrew Bate is enjoying himself on his massive multi-million dollar yacht. Soon he has an appointment to appear on a podcast

As Andrew Tate is a social media influencer, he appears on many podcasts and other media. He gains lots of attention for his controversial views.

In this podcast he speaks about money, cars, and a variety of other topics. In this segment, he starts talking about gamers. Bandrew Bate dislikes gamers and anyone who doesn't fit his idea of masculinity. He talks about this new app that helps you find other gamers to play with.

After his podcast is over and he has gained sufficient enough attention, mostly negative, he rides to the airport in his very expensive and rare cars. On the way, he decides he will check out this new app and surround himself with gamers to learn more about them so he has new material for his public appearances

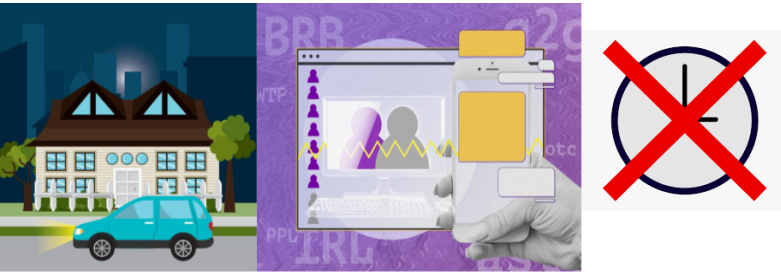

After boarding his private plane, he sits down and the plane takes off. He finds himself to be quite bored. He downloads the app. He sets up the profile to blend in.

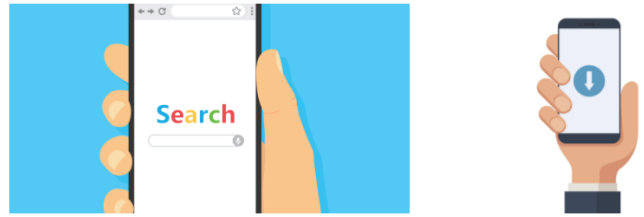

Now that he has immersed himself among the gamers. He begins go troll them. The app's algorithm is so good at detecting and banning bots and trolls, he has to make several false accounts after he quickly gets banned. Eventually he decides he secretly likes games and has a hidden account he uses for real.

Preston Sands

Thomas has been going to work and then comes straight home to the family. He likes to socialize with people but doesn't get the chance to in person. So he tries to make friends online to play video games with but doesn't like wasting his time doing so.

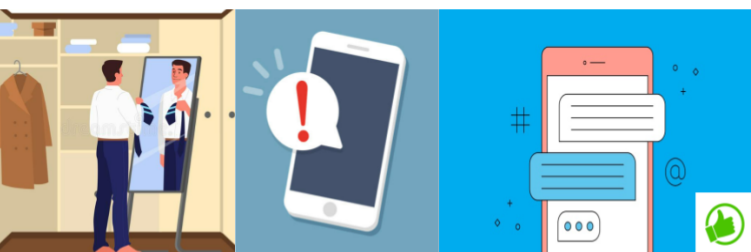

Thomas wants an easy way to find people online to play games with. He Googles ways to do this, and an app called Teammate Finder pops up, so he downloads it.

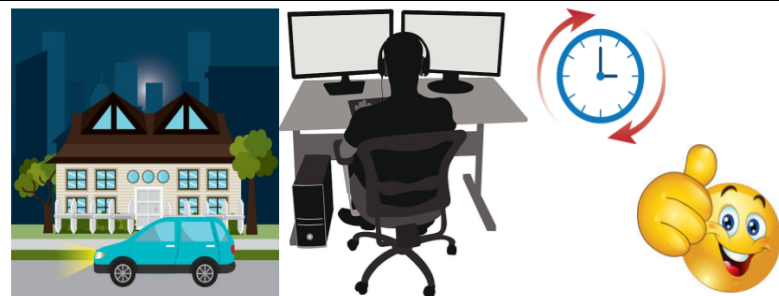

Thomas creates an account and begins to look for people with similar game interests as him.

Thomas finds John, a guy around his age with similar game interests as him, and sends him a message to get his info so they can play together sometime.

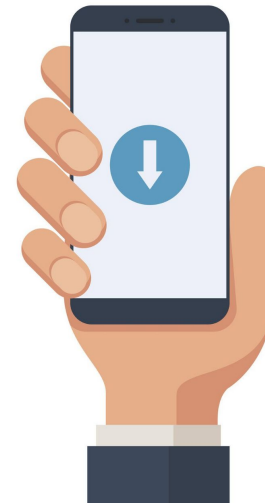

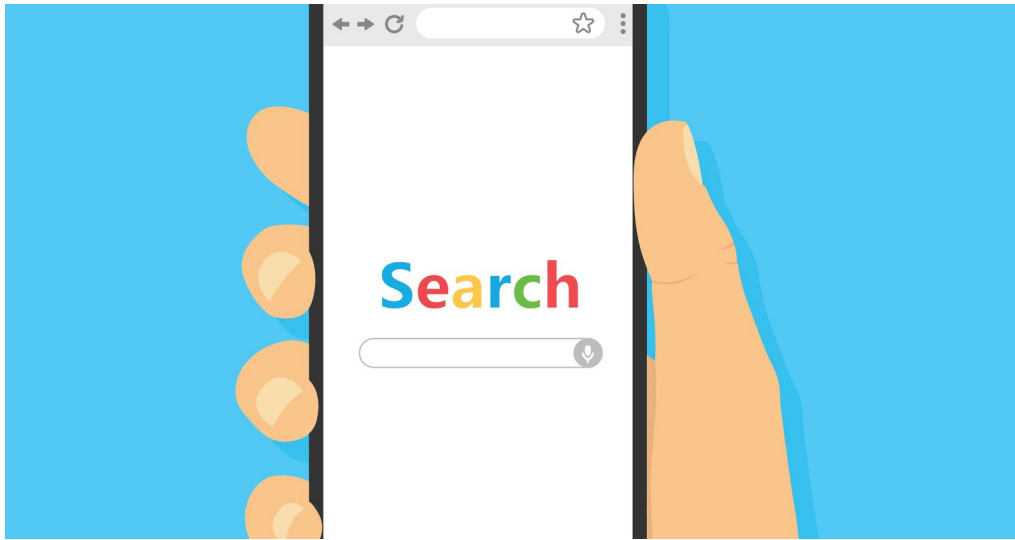

Thomas gets ready to go to work and receives a phone notification. He checks his phone to see that John has messaged him back and said he would be down to play with him. Thomas and John then agree to play with each other after Thomas gets home from work.

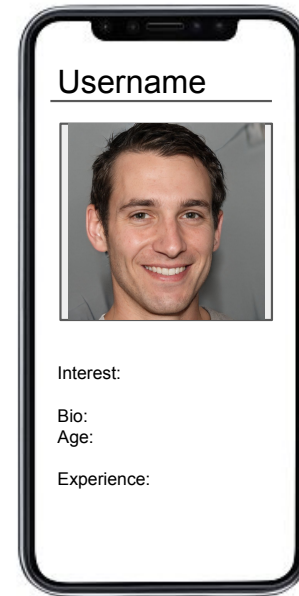

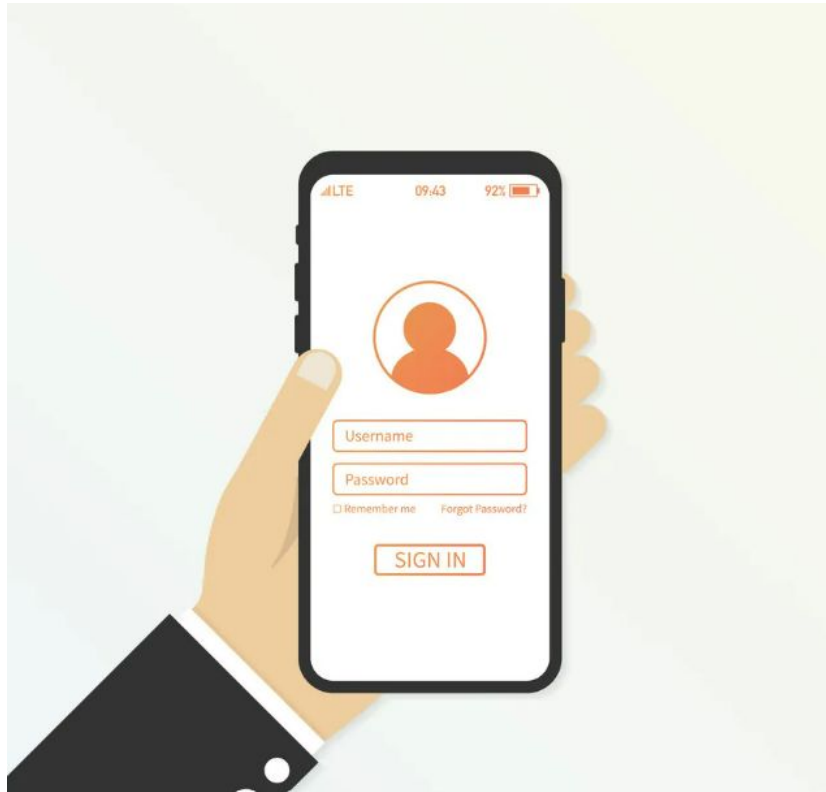

Thomas gets home from work, and after, he sees to the family. He sits down at his setup and messages John that he is available. Thomas and John then play with each other for a few hours. Thomas enjoyed socializing and how easy it was to connect with John.

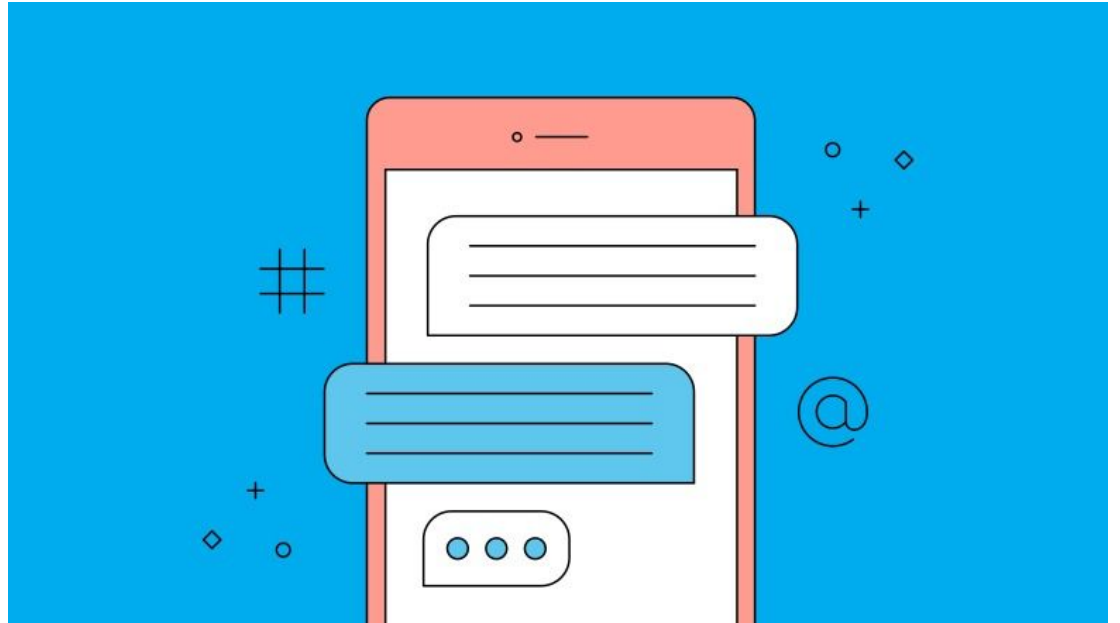

Thomas has been going to work and then comes straight home to the family. He likes to socialize with people but doesn't get the chance to in person. So he tries to make friends online to play video games with but doesn't like wasting his time doing so.

Thomas wants an easy way to find people online to play games with. He Googles ways to do this, and an app called Teammate Finder pops up, so he downloads it.

Thomas creates an account and begins to look for people with similar game interests as him.

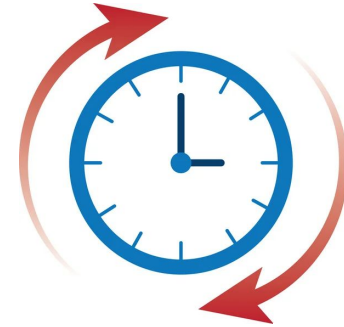

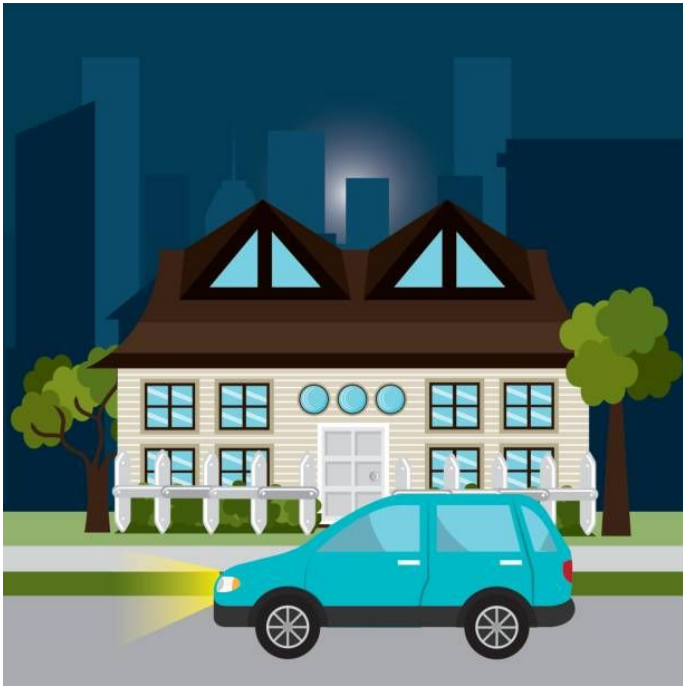

Thomas finds John, a guy around his age with similar game interests as him, and sends him a message to get his info so they can play together sometime.

Thomas gets ready to go to work and receives a phone notification. He checks his phone to see that John has messaged him back and said he would be down to play with him. Thomas and John then agree to play with each other after Thomas gets home from work.

Thomas gets home from work, and after, he sees to the family. He sits down at his setup and messages John that he is available. Thomas and John then play with each other for a few hours. Thomas enjoyed socializing and how easy it was to connect with John.

Shahraiz Aziz

Granny Gracious is sitting alone, as usual, deep in her thoughts

.... when suddenly she feels it again

a great sense of loneliness and despondence..

Looking out her window, she sees the teenagers and young adults alike, glued to their phones

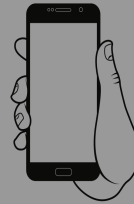

But she would rather face a lifetime of loneliness than settle for that kind of socialising

"Whatever happened to visiting each other instead..?" she thought to herself

And then theres those kids with the videogames.. the bane of Granny's existence

Granny never did manage to figure out why people bother with all this "violence" on screens. "Does it not waste their time?" she mumbles to herself

Granny reluctantly gives her old phone a go to see what all the fuss is about, but the buttons confuse her, and the words make no sense to her

She puts the phone back down, knowing well that operating this thing was no easy task for a woman her age

The already sad Granny now starts to feel stressed thinking about all of the things she desperately wants to avoid

She decides to calm herself by continuing to knit a sweater she had been working on the past week

But somehow, she still feels uneasy..

Granny goes out to her local park around the corner to clear her head and she comes upon a realisation

She wants nothing to do with videogames or online socialising..

After giving these strange practices a chance, Granny realised these things are simply not for her, and she goes on to live a life with no regrets

Granny Gracious is sitting alone, as usual, deep in her thoughts

.... when suddenly she feels it again

a great sense of loneliness and despondence..

Shahraiz Aziz

Looking out her window, she sees the teenagers and young adults alike, glued to their phones

But she would rather face a lifetime of loneliness than settle for that kind of socialising

“Whatever happened to visiting each other instead..?” she thought to herself

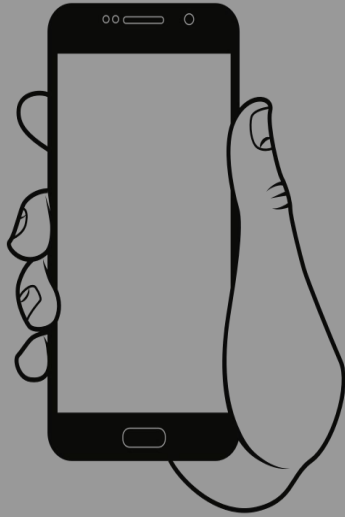

And then theres those kids with the videogames.. the bane of Granny's existence

Granny never did manage to figure out why people bother with all this "violence" on screens. "Does it not waste their time?" she mumbles to herself

Granny reluctantly gives her old phone a go to see what all the fuss is about, but the buttons confuse her, and the words make no sense to her

She puts the phone back down, knowing well that operating this thing was no easy task for a woman her age

The already sad Granny now starts to feel stressed thinking about all of the things she desperately wants to avoid

She decides to calm herself by continuing to knit a sweater she had been working on the past week

But somehow, she still feels uneasy..

Granny goes out to her local park around the corner to clear her head and she comes upon a realisation

She wants nothing to do with videogames or online socialising..

After giving these strange practices a chance, Granny realised these things are simply not for her, and she goes on to live a life with no regrets